

Monetary and Banking Research Institute
Central Bank of the Islamic Republic of Iran
(244)

Recent Developments in Banking and Financial Supervision: The Rise of Macro-Prudential Regulation

By: Ahmad Azizi

August 2012

Contents

| Title                                                                | Page |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------|
| Abstract                                                             | 1           |
| 1. Introduction                                                      | 3           |
| 2. Macro-prudential regulation: The quest for a conceptual framework | 9           |
| 2.1. Concepts and objectives                                                | 9           |
| 2.2. Systemic risk-The subject matter of macro-prudential regulation        | 13          |
| 2.3. Delineating the regulatory boundaries                                  | 15          |
| 2.4. In search for regulatory instruments                                   | 18          |
| 2.5. Institutional framework: Final piece of the jigsaw?                    | 23          |
| 3. A brave new world of macro-prudential regulation                  | 24          |
| 4. Financial Stability Board                                         | 25          |
| 4.1. Basel implementation and risk management                               | 29          |
| 4.2. Recovery and resolution planning                                       | 30          |
| 4.3. Oversight of the 'non-regulated' shadow banking system                 | 32          |
| 4.4. Reform of the over-the-counter (OTC) derivatives market                | 33          |
| 4.5. Harmonised global financial reporting standards                        | 34          |
| 4.6. Other financial reforms                                                | 35          |
| - Legal entity identifiers                                           | 35          |
| - Reliance on credit rating agencies                                        | 35          |

|                                                                                     |           |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------|
| - Enhanced market disclosures and consumer protection                               | 36        |
| - Compensation (staff remuneration) practices                                       | 36        |
| - Macro-prudential regulatory frameworks                                            | 36        |
| - International standards                                                           | 37        |
| - Implications for developing economies                                             | 37        |
| - Enhancement of the FSB's institutional role                                       | 37        |
| 5. Basel Committee on Banking Supervision: The rise of Basel III             | 38 |
| 5.1. Capital reforms                                                                | 41        |
| 5.2. Liquidity requirements                                                         | 43        |
| 5.3. Basel III: A preliminary assessment                                            | 45        |
| 6. European Union-European System of Financial Supervision                   | 48 |
| 6.1. Macro-prudential regulation-European Systemic Risk Board                       | 49        |
| 6.2. Micro-prudential regulation-European supervisory agencies                      | 50        |
| 6.3. EU reforms-Real change or window dressing?                                     | 53        |
| 7. United Kingdom-Regulatory reform under the Financial Services Bill        | 54 |
| 7.1. Macro-prudential regulation-Bank of England and the Financial Policy Committee | 59        |
| 7.2. Micro-prudential regulation-Prudential Regulation Authority                    | 61        |
| 7.3. Conduct of business regulation-Financial Conduct Authority                     | 63        |
| 7.4. Additional measures                                                            | 65        |
| - Ring-fencing vital banking services                                               | 66        |
| - Increasing banks' loss absorbency                                                 | 67        |

|                                                                                      |    |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----|
| - Enhancing competition in the banking sector                                        | 68 |
| 7.5. Current state of the Financial Services Bill                                    | 69 |
| 8. United States-Systemic risks and the Financial Stability Oversight Council | 70 |
| 8.1. Macro-prudential regulation-Financial Stability Oversight Council               | 73 |
| 8.2. Office of Financial Research                                                    | 76 |
| 8.3. Regulatory reform in the US: Achievements thus far?                             | 78 |
| 9. Regulatory reforms-Any lessons for developing economies?                   | 80 |
| 9.1. Promote robust supervision and regulation of financial firms                    | 82 |
| 9.2. Establish an integrated framework of regulation of financial markets            | 82 |
| 9.3. Protect consumers and investors from potential financial abuse                  | 83 |
| 9.4. Provide the supervisors with the tools they need to manage potential crises     | 83 |
| 9.5. Adopt international regulatory standards and enhance international cooperation  | 83 |
| References                                                                    | 85 |

Tables

| Title                                                                    | Page |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------|
| Table 1- Macro-versus micro-prudential perspectives of regulatory policy | 11          |
| Table 2- Alternative set of tools to foster financial stability          | 19          |
| Table 3- Macro-prudential instruments                                    | 20          |
| Table 4- Summary of FSB areas for reform and expected outcomes           | 27          |
| Table 5- Comparative analysis of macro-prudential regulatory reforms     | 75          |

Figures

| Title                                                         | Page |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------|
| Figure 1- A possible hierarchy of objectives                  | 12          |
| Figure 2- A framework for financial stability                 | 16          |
| Figure 3- A breakdown of the Basel III proposed reforms       | 40          |
| Figure 4- Roles of bodies in the UK's regulatory architecture | 58          |