Preface

Literary quotations Of American, French, Irish, English and Russian Poets, Writers and Dramatists as a book is a subject that can give the opportunity to most of students and writers to revise and refresh the written texts. This book could be the last word on the subject as it covers the quotations of the recent writers and at the same time the distance predecessors. The important point is that all the quotations of writers and poets are arranged in an alphabetical sequence of the names of authors.

I like to express my gratitude to Oxford Dictionary of Literary Quotations for giving the inspiration to prepare this remarkable book of Literary Quotations of American, French, Irish, English and Russian Poets, Writers and Dramatists. This edition is full of important literary quotations which can give the pleasurable feeling and the brilliant provoking thought to everyone who likes to be a specified writer or reader.
