Introduction

The Pearson Test of English (PTE) is a computer-based test which is becoming a widely recognized means of gauging an individual's knowledge of English language for academic, vocational and migration purposes around the world, especially in Australasia.

The PTE test consists of four modules of Speaking, Writing, Reading and Listening. The whole test can be as short as 2 hours and 45 minutes to the longest 3 hours and 30 minutes. A preliminary result of the test is usually in the candidate's email within 24 hours. All sections and their relevant test items are described in the following pages.

The present book offers a rich collection of exercises that not only prepare the PTE candidates for the test and help them achieve a high PTE score, but these exercises also assist them in improving their general English language proficiency. These exercises are in many ways similar to the real PTE tests and together with the accompanying hints and key points, largely familiarize the candidates with what they are expected to do when taking the test. Also this book works best when combined with the additional tips and templates offered in our face-to-face classes that are currently held at the address given in the following website: www.digestenglish.com

The book content was pilot tested between January 2016 and January 2019 by over 500 PTE candidates who took PTE preparation classes run by the first author of the book in different face-to-face classes held in the Asia Pacific Group center in Melbourne. It was also practiced by many others who had access to the content of the book through online communication.
