NOTICE

Medicine is an ever-changing science. As new research and clinical experience broaden our knowledge, changes in treatment and drug therapy are required. The editors and the publisher of this work have checked with sources believed to be reliable in their efforts to provide information that is complete and generally in accord with the standards accepted at the time of publication. However, in view of the possibility of human error or changes in medical sciences, neither the editors nor the publisher nor any other party who has been involved in the preparation or publication of this work warrants that the information contained herein is in every respect accurate or complete, and they disclaim all responsibility for any errors or omissions or for the results obtained from use of the information contained in this work. Readers are encouraged to confirm the information contained herein with other sources. For example and in particular, readers are advised to check the product information sheet included in the package of each drug they plan to administer to be certain that the information contained in this work is accurate and that changes have not been made in the recommended dose or in the contraindications for administration. This recommendation is of particular importance in connection with new or infrequently used drugs.

CS 12

To my husband Burton Fox who can now perform most procedures with facility and accuracy; to my children Dr. Anne Tintinalli, John Tintinalli, Elizabeth Tintinalli, Joshua Fox and Gemma Fox—especially Dr. Anne who keeps me on my toes.

Judith Tintinalli

First to my wife who has encouraged and supported me throughout several editions of this textbook, and then the field of Emergency Medicine that has given me so many fulfilling opportunities over the past 30 years.

Steve Stapczynski

Love and patience are gifts that my family—Elizabeth, Davis, Natasha, and Gabrielle—have always bestowed upon me. I appreciate their understanding of my commitment to this project, which hopefully will serve future generations of emergency physicians and their patients.

John Ma

To my family, mentors, students, and patients who have trusted me along the way and given meaning to this work.

David Cline

To my family, Marc, Matthew, Lissy and Noah, for their understanding and patience with me throughout this project. To the hard-working Emergency Medicine team at MetroHealth Medical Center and to the patients we serve.

Rita K. Cydulka

To the patients, nurses, students, and mentors who teach me every day and to my family and partner for their love and support.

Garth Meckler
