Introduction

'Academic English in Use' is designed for learners who want to enhance their English for academic, personal, and career purposes. Its 15 units consist of a holistic approach of language presentation and teaching. In each unit there are several parts of various facets of language teaching like: vocabulary presentation, reading, comprehension questions, true or false items, grammar focus to create the context of inductive learning, function box to put the grammatical points in use, and learn it better to provide students with the real context of language use.

'Academic English in Use' reflects the following features:

1. very authentic texts
2. reliable comprehension questions
3. inductive presentation of grammar
4. understandable grammatical exercises
5. functional presentation of grammatical points
6. providing review sections in the form of a quiz after each 5 units.

And finally, we hope we could pave the way for learning English a bit, and could create motivation for our dear students to go forward in the course of academic learning. Also we would be much obliged to you if you arrange to send us your deep and trustworthy comments on the book.
