Introduction

English Vocabulary Booster for Iranian Students (1) has been written for people who are studying English in universities, colleges and schools, and also for everybody need to improve their understanding of English.

The book can easily be used for self-study by individuals who want to make use of English privately or for their personal life.

Since the book is written with the assumption that many readers will have little or no previous knowledge of English. It is advisable, however, that the teacher understands the words and their uses introduced in each unit in order to be as much a resource person as possible, to answer queries that may arise in class or at least to direct the students to the appropriate place to find an answer. This type of book ensures real understanding of words in the classroom. There are some words that are out of the school books, where it is necessary the teacher can guide the students in finding answers to the words and sentences.

The book consists of 5 units each of which includes some words that are used in some sentences so that meet the needs of students.

This book adopts a communicative approach and seeks to meet most of the problems posed by guidance school, high school and university students in order to spark off spontaneous interaction for comprehension.

In order to make reading meaningful and facilitate reading comprehension, students are provided with some meaningful sentences. These enhance students' motivation, increase their level of comprehension, and generate interest and enthusiasm for the selected readings. Therefore teachers are recommended to get their students involved in reading and understanding these sentences. They are not to be ignored.

Teachers are recommended to encourage the students to read the definitions and pronunciations of words and understand the sentences and uses of words in the sentences. Where it is necessary the students can use a mono-lingual or bi-lingual dictionary while in class.
