Introduction

The specialty of anesthesiology has advanced as a medical specialty in the past few decades. As preoperative physicians, anesthesiologists are now actively involved in patient care, working in preoperative clinics, operating rooms, post anesthesia care units and intensive care units. Anesthesiologists are also involved in taking care of patients with acute and chronic pain syndromes in pain management clinics, ambulatory care centers, surgical centers, administration and research.

In United States, the first organization of practicing anesthesiologists was formed in 1905 that was named "The Long Island Society of Anesthetists". The name was changed to New York Society of Anesthetists in 1911. The American Board of Anesthesiology (ABA) was formed in 1938 as an affiliate board of the American Board of Surgery. ABA became an independent board in 1941.

The principal sub-disciplines of the practice of anesthesiology include cardiothoracic anesthesia, ventilatory anesthesia, obstetric anesthesia, neuroanesthesia, pediatric anesthesia, regional anesthesia, critical care medicine and acute and chronic pain management.
