Introduction

This is an interesting and selected collection of passages compiled by teachers of English who have been teaching for several years at universities and schools. This is the first step of a ladder to be climbed up by all learners who need to learn English through which they would like to get due qualification for general English courses. This book is specially intended for non-ESL students who wish to take a basic English course. The author have designed and included such class activities as vocabulary definition, synonyms, antonyms, comprehension questions, proverbs and idioms in this book. Passages are of various topics, and some of them may be familiar to some. Some have been taken from known books and texts on market and internet. Although the origin a few of them was unknown to the writer, passages have been given due consideration to keep their original form and avoid plagiarism.
