PREFACE

INTRODUCTION AND SUMMARY

We, the authors, Paul Amrod and Ellias Aghili are poets that have a similar vision. This vision is reflected in this poem we have created hoping for the periods in time where mankind was enlightened and truly democratic would return for the benefit of all. The two main characters of this poem are two astronauts that are called Captains. Therefore the title "Adventures of Two Captains" was chosen. Billy Meier, the Swiss proponent of communication with extraterrestrials, has collected the philosophy of the Pleaidians who are sending us thought waves through meditation. A female Semjase, who transmits these thoughts, is the name of Billy's counterpart. This inspired the poets to constantly have conversation with the Pleaidians who care deeply about our success as a relatively new race of beings that have the capability of spiritual ascension.

ADVENTURES OF TWO CAPTAINS A MODERN EPIC POEM

This exciting project was begun in February of 2016 as a young Persian poet decided to ask a somewhat older Lebanese-American to collaborate with him on a science fiction adventure poem.

Ellias Aghili with Paul Amrod then began the poem by exchanging five to seven stanzas as verses and sent Emails from Persia to Germany back and forth and have developed a poem of five chapters embracing a truly imaginative travel through space on a ship called Black Star in the name of light against darkness to eventually reach a far off place called Ysa Land. The two Captains are Orion and the younger protege Captain A.

Paul engaged himself with a KGB film about extraterrestrials and used named and incidents which may or may not have occurred. It was an exciting good resource for ideas.

We reached an amazing Five Chapter with 20 Verses a piece describing an incredible exposition through two parallel universes to eventually reach the coveted timeless land of Ysa. Here is a soft poetic phrase at the beginning which Ellias wrote:

We passed beneath the Volar's fruit,
Hailed Europe with her flute
General light honored us with Alms,
Bede of peace and the sign of palms.

The poem is a bastion of imagery and philosophy engendering a constant form of com-motion and actions. The style both poets blend in a way that creates a nice varied style.

Paul wrote the even numbered verses and Ellias the odd-numbered verses. Paul's second verse starts as such:

Travelling faster than the speed of sound Whipping winds stir cosmic dust to astound
the inhabitants of this mystic realm who conjure the two captains at the helm.

The poem then refers to the tribe of Pleiadians which many of the believers in other intelligence hold as visitors to the planet Earth and are concerned about our well-being. Also the two cultures of benign aliens, the Emerther und Egarot, are mentioned as well and the diabolic cannibalistic Dorsay.

Entering the protection of the Council of Five the Emerther and Egarot do arrive to further the virgin voyagers of the Milky way to reach their destinies without dismay.

The benevolent Council of Five is also a resource of known references to the world of ET's. The Emerther and Egarot are two of them who are compassionate and kind. The thorn is everyone's side are the incredibly warlike culture of the Dorsays. Ellias often pre-sents imaginary compassionate cultures in the celestial city Brandesion in the first verses. King Brett from the Brandesion's gives a Holy Man to the two Captains to accompany them through the Milky Way and onto parallel universes and through black holes. A stanza of Paul's then says

Captain Orion receives Pleiadians waves
To enlighten his inborn human conscious His counterpart the younger Captain A is supporting his efforts so bounteous gifting him as his dedicated protege

Later in Chapter One Semjase a Pleiadian is announced. She is in real life a connection to the Swiss ET commander Bill Moyer. At the end of Chapter One is the 19th Verse of Ellias and the 10th Verse of Paul.

XIX.

Just before exiting the cursed space of Riancee, the satanic existence of black lace overwhelmed their time and place.
Suddenly fear covered Captain A's face.
Knows he who in a lore
was cursed to his essential core.
Then he could not utter a sound or talk nor see a vision, run or walk.

However he avoided being killed or dispersed.
Even the minds of readers of this verse should be consciously aware of Roserria, who's always lurks in grief and despair.

Rosseria is the servant of the Lord of Silence
Full of venom, hate and defiance
Leader of the Riancee's world who ruled with a pic of ice.
Father of the dead dreams and vice

"In God we trust, so don't be afraid
"He will help us to pass through this raid!"
said the wise and expert Orion Captain with a sacred, holy and stronger passion.

Suddenly the familiar sound of a flute blown by Israfil, "whose heart strings were as sweet as a lute"
rang in harmony and angels began to sing.
Riancee against her wish became luminous that night.
No darkness could stand amidst this holy light!

XX.

Captain Orion's benevolence and healing soul returned Captain A's senses as he deeply extolled the compassionate gestures of his gallant mentor giving his assistant rewards and splendor.

Casting the infernal condemnations into the darkness from once it came Piercing the armor of Rosseria Releasing the dynamic fumes to inflame
the evil structure of this corporate nation.
Once we incite a magnificent Gloria we commence to travel again.
With the help of sweet Semjase
we look into the past of the last amen.
through her time machine's robust decree.

Unveiling the lost and well kept secret held in a safe under lock and key.
Keeping the mystery from all descendants always prepared our enemies a dismal abyss and misery.

Nevertheless the two Captains approached their goal fearless of Riancee and goodness soon extends their aim through every black hole's sphere.
Disappearing from today into yesteryears

Into the truths of our self-control
Being diligent about the final end
Clear about our destination Glistening faces of fine rapport will greet us with their salutations.

Our alliance with the Pleiadians will chaperone our gracious voyage to ring in success amongst our legions as the gentle spirits greet the seasons with an earthly beauty and Nature's montage.

After this initial Chapter there are four chapters which involve many events and places. Also there are confrontations with the horrifically merciless Dark Prince. In Chapter Two we are introduced to the masterful spaceship Black Star. The two captains are confronted with a dismal area called "Ashland" where a character Nybass comes into play. He is a dream-maker which commands humans by manipulated their dreams into nightmares.

As this archaic conniving demon Nybbas transformed the heavens to an abyss Orion was witness of this charlatan who played with smoke and mirrors while posing as a harlequin.

He invades the darker subconscious to arouse horrendous visions.
Throwing the victim into a nightmare with cacophonous noises in their ears although his terrors were fictitious.

With the guidance of the Pleadians they find the universe of this beast. Then presented is the use of a Martian philosophy projecting against, through fearless prowess, the attacks of evil realms. Late in the second Chapter the twosome reaches the magic land of Princess Anne and "Yavica" Her position was very strictly negative towards selfish and brutal forces throughout the Milky Way. She also in Verses XVII and XVIII held a magnificent feast with acrobatics and wizards which is highly entertaining.

The great hall of Yavica had a feast
There were magicians from the west and east.
The entrance was designed by golden lion paws
and in the hallway we greeted the great magician of Oz.
A witchery competition was about to start,
Each magician should show her or his art
with cosmic, ethereal and mystic wizardry!
Watching this competition one wouldn't turn weary.

There were many sorcerers that Caption Orion did know:
"Frank of Abentious, Jasmine of Nebllious" all were in the show.
Even Hector the powwow was there,
with his silvery long straight hair.

This Hector was the surveillant of the Valinor trees and the sacred light of Vafar, reminiscent of the Pleiades.
He smiled and greeted the skipper of Black Star who said "I have heard about Hector's valor from planets afar!"

Baba Yaga entered with her flying broom
She did wear a mild strange perfume.
Hector saluted the old voodooist
while she entered the great hall with a twist.

Among the crowd I witnessed Lady Circe in white
With her herbs she gave the audience delight
The great hall was full of great faces who had gathered here from different places.

Then at the beginning of Chapter Three they pursue further to Red Elms an area with a mystic Persian bird Simurgh. This part of the Milky Way was known for its massive library and university it supported. It was truly wonderful to possess of feather from this philosophic Persian bird because it gave one the powers of light and humanism.

In the legends we have heard perhaps you'll be chosen and given a feather from this bird!
This then will help you reach the heavens.

By giving such heartfelt mercy we entered the gates of his personal and sacred safehold.
His feathers had changed many fates,
and people who received this weren't mar'fold'

Then they picked up an Earthling who was very useful for their enterprise. James was his name and he was a perfect mechanic and technician to look after the Black Star. Later a trip through an ice-cold winter was resolved through the powers of their guidance. Here the knowledge of James was shown as they were able to pass through a black hole to their first parallel universe.

James then offered his fabulous expertise saying he had a method of fuel extension.
We must enter a black hole with courage and have gravity propel us with intergalactic ease.
We would be thrusted into the tenth dimension.

Always the Doray attempts to disturb their travels but their perseverance presides. After a while they arrive at the earlier city of King Brett in "Lioliak". A Lord Listonburg looked over this place and was having an immense amount of problems with the Dark Prince. Now we find ourselves at the beginning of Chapter Four. In the sixth verse the Zeltas organize a wrestling match with the Dark Prince and Captain Orion.

VI.

The befriended Egarots soon came to assist offering their valuable and intelligent twist.
Adjoining the soulful Zeltas with the Captains assured revelations with a rigorous discipline which initiated the use of a Roman-Greco underpin.

The heroic offer for the Prince of Darkness was a traditional wrestling match and use of hardness to determine the winner of their confrontation.
The Zelta's forbid the use of cosmic weapons and utilize only the body and strength to threaten.

Soon afterward Orion was side by side with the Prince with whom he spoke in English and was sincerely convinced he would be able overtake him with an impeccable thrust and flip the Hilliop and Dorsay mix with his prowess and bust the tinier prince with his intelligence and sharpness.

He took him to the floor and pinned his carcass without any mercy plus a mark from his footprint and the Zelta declared him conqueror of this quest to master the diabolical warrior as he victoriously pressed his body to the canvas and decisively pierced his darkness.

Completely humiliated and deposed of any pride
he immediately disappeared to weep and hide.
As the result of the match there was a gigantic stir.
The Dark Prince relinquished his stone Excalibur.
Nonetheless he will plot again in unrighteousness to jubilate in his horrendous and hideous blackness but with the guidance of the Zelta he met his test.

Thereafter the two Captains leave after the embarrassment of the Dark Prince and fly further to Derton on Queen Dalina who wanted dearly to learn what James and Orion and Captain A were to offer. This was the passage into timelessness and travelling at the speed of light and therefore being able to pass through black holes.
Therefore Orion held a symposium to teach Queen Dalina of this special reception.

The Heladians are masters of Einstein's relativity and view time as a fourth dimension of lucidity.
Opening windows constantly with the speed of light to journey through black holes with majestic might to propel Orion's ship and fashion his abilities.

Springing distances in seconds of real time is the knowledge Orion needs for his sublime voyage to the frontiers of his final destiny.
Ysá Land awaits him as his goal to excite and ignite his internal pleasures while he travels through night.

Towards the finish of Chapter Four we have the League of Galaxies' competition where the wizards from Princess Anne and from all other universes including extra-terrestrials would compete. Intellectualism and ability at swimming and sport were all a part of this event. The prize at the finish would be the Wand of Bellatrix.

There were different styles of sport events which resembled games on Earth. Some were individual competitions involving heaving poles and spears showing the prowess of each wizard's knowledge of disciplines and the mirth of exciting tennis and squash showing versatility and the will to persevere. However, quizzes with confusing as well as tricky questions came into the score.

Its entirety the tournament was a challenge to each brilliant voyager's agility. Each personal intelligence, who exhibited an eclecticism of body and mind, understood the deeper essence of this tourney where white magic was defined. One counteraction is the multifarious usage of riddles and masterful abilities demonstrating internal balance with muscular fitness and boisterousness unconfined.

One speech is held from an old wizard before the final triathlon. I think it would be intriguing to quote this as well.

"In the middle of this island,
where gigantic Alfa wolves dwell,
is a haunted old cottage
where spirits live full of knowledge".
Before the triathlon all competitors must visit this cottage in trust.
There education must be inquired and studied well.
After visiting this island answers will be impelled.

The knowledge obtained is a prerequisite for the competition.
If you wish not to learn you will not be given further admission.
"At this point you will be asked three questions about ancient realms and the white light."
"Incorrect answers to the questions will mean no continued participation in the triathlon and the bowing out and unfortunate elimination."

Now we will move on to the Irish Chapter which is the final leg of the journey including bursting at Sombro Galaxy into another parallel universe. There exist three incredible places. Firstly, they visit the residence of the illustrious Gaelic Goddess Queen Brigantia. She gifts them with the gorgeous white flower "Antheia".

This glorious Queen named Brigantia visited Earth during the Gaelic race.
She left many influences through Europe which many can retrace to the golden age of the human inception of music and poetry with the heart of the Baroque in our traditional ancient cultures.
For example the essence of descant and early verses of literary symmetry

She gifted us with many philosophical concepts toward enlightenment bringing mankind closer to the Magna Carta and modern democracy.
The quest for our Captains is to rediscover this magic and to recapture our civil rights, which recently have been demolished, with the reestablishment of Queen Brigantia's principles which brought us elation and rapture.

From there they visit a Germanic gent named kind Johannes Schmitt of Nurembia, on a ring of quasars, who gives them the right to wage battle against the Dark Prince. However, the flower "Antheia" with an ambush of the Dark Prince and the Dorsay and Dries, another evil tribe, had other thoughts. The flower "Antheia" swallows the Dark Prince.

From there they visit a Germanic gent named kind Johannes Schmitt of Nurembia, on a ring of quasars, who gives them the right to wage battle against the Dark Prince. However, the flower "Antheia" with an ambush of the Dark Prince and the Dorsay and Dries, another evil tribe, had other thoughts. The flower "Antheia" swallows the Dark Prince.

As quick as a Native American ambush his army appeared.
There were with no spaceship but on the grounds of Nurembia.
Herr Schmidt and Regina returned to their quarters in fear however Orion was steadfast with the help of Brigantia.
Her present of peace and wisdom was there, the flower Antheia.

Little to the knowledge of the crew the flower had a mission.
She sprung forward like out of a white magical dream and vision and swallowed the dark prince with a single motion so severe that the soldiers of Dries and Dorsay in one quick move had disappeared.
The dark prince was digested from her enzymes.
This was the end of this impervious racketer.

Then onward with the flower they make it finally to the Ysa Land accompanied by a fleet of benign extraterrestrials and land celebrated by a gigantic greeting and the first part of the story comes to a close.

A representative from each tribe came to the newly-arrived crew of terrestrials.
they handed them a document which shone in luminescence with a testimonial text gifting the Earthlings with a better comprehension of their new surroundings.
Each of the tribal chiefs understood the Anglican language and could emit the soundings of words and amazed the crew with their expertise, quite intelligent and highly logical.

Orion wished to present a speech to exhibit his immense thankfulness!
He commenced with his reminiscence of the entirely fascinating journey naturally recognizing Samjase and King Brett for their helpfulness.
He showed a optimistic attitude to be amongst his fellow universal inhabitants.
Articulating with great fury their sympathetic gratitude for the miraculous reception and to breathe so auspiciously in Ysa Land following our courageous tourney.
